YOUR PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Hello Everyone,

I have seen flowers blooming, heard birds singing, and the calendar says that it is spring. However, winter is still hanging in there, which makes it cold and muddy detecting out there. Soon we will have consistently warm sunny weather.

The March meeting was a lot of fun in our new location along with the fantastic presentation from Mike and Stewart with Mojave underground. Their love and knowledge of exploring old mines was very evident.

This month we will be learning about marbles from two of the best, Marlo Peterson and John Braithwaite. These two gentlemen have spent many years researching and collecting marbles. Marlo has co-authored four popular books about marbles. Recently they have made their own custom marbles. I know that many of you have collected or found some great marbles out screening old ghost towns or even those surprise marble finds while detecting. Bring them out to the meeting to show the experts.

In conclusion, Brian Jessop's family and I would like to express appreciation for everyone's thoughts and prayers.
The monetary contributions were very

Fishing In The Dirt

My curiosity for treasure hunting began as a young 6 year-old boy. My Dad, (Gene), Uncle Paul, and Uncle Kenner would take me along on adventures into old abandoned mines around the Five Mile Pass area and the ghost towns of Wyoming. I remember carrying out of the mines old wooden Hercules Dynamite Boxes, empty of course. In the ghost towns we would find shards of old china and the leather segments of shoes and boots. I would always be thinking that everything I found was a priceless treasure. Where was my metal detector then?

It will always be an exhilarating feeling finding all types of different objects in the ground and making contact with the past once again. It is an amazing thrill that's hard to explain to people unless you have been there and done it. I encourage everyone to give it a try.

Often people ask while I'm out detecting, "What is your greatest find?" I reply with answers such as old coins, gold rings, tokens, etc. But my greatest treasure is my family (Dawn, Matt, & Hayden) and friends.

Keep fishing in the dirt! Always remember the difference between your greatest find and your greatest treasures.
